MCGA is a woman owned small business that provides strategic and tactical support to governments and utilities for a wide range of energy and facility issues.

Our advice is applied at all levels from front line operations, to site directors and base commanders, and at headquarters to the CEO, Assistant Secretary, or the Commanding General.

We help “Get it done” faster, effectively, and at the right price by applying a comprehensive understanding of what it takes at all levels, while never losing focus on the core mission.

MCGA is especially effective acting as the ‘owner’s representative’ for the government to attract 3rd party investments in energy and facilities. Our advice helps craft better deals at all stages from concept to managed operations.
